About BUXKIN

Tactile, natural, sustainable. Acoustic wall finishes.

We have found a creative way to change sustainability in tactile material.

After years of experience in contemporary fabrics and design, Jan Veldhoen's research leads to the origins of BUXKIN, claiming a redefinition of recycled materials for upholstery and wallcovering through a ribbed look.

BUXKIN is a collection of acoustic wall coverings made from recycled and sustainable materials. While primarily designed for walls, it also beautifully enhances furniture, creating a seamless connection between furnishings and architectural finishes. Because of its acoustic properties, it works perfectly in offices and conference rooms.

Made in the Netherlands since 2015.
